PRESIDENT'S LETTER

I wish to express my sincere thanks to the members of NAFA for the honor bestowed upon me by electing me your President for this coming year. I assure you that I will do everything that I can to make NAFA more successful and an Association of National Prominence. Our Association, although young in years, has come a long way under the able leadership of our former officers. We are still in the process of growth—and it is the hope of your officers and myself that you will fully support and cooperate with us in building a stronger and a more dynamic Association. Although we have several very active chapters in New England, New York, and Chicago, there is much work to be done in other areas of the country. For it is at such periodic meetings held at the local level that Fleet Administrators responsible for the automobile operations of their companies can exchange experiences and thereby gain further knowledge in efficient Fleet Administration. If you do not now have a chapter in your city, contact any of the officers for help in forming such a chapter.

Our Third Annual Convention is now part of the History of our Association, but it will be long remembered. Four full days of seminars on pertinent subjects just packed with information, know-how, and general discussion on problems encountered by Fleet Administrators. It is anticipated that copies of the talks by the speakers will be put in booklet form to be distributed to our members.

To the Convention General Chairman, E. J. Parker, whose untiring efforts deserve high praise in making this convention successful, and to all committee members, and those speakers, guests, and members who participated in the seminars, our sincere thanks and appreciation.

To all our friends in the Automotive Field, our thanks and appreciation for their assistance and cooperation in helping to make our Convention a success.

Sincerely,

E. J. Ames
President
